

Imagination and heritage

A KreativEU Network Conference

March 24-25

In contemporary European societies, heritage has gained renewed significance amid growing uncertainty, social polarization, and rapid cultural change. Increasingly, heritage is understood not only as a legacy of the past but as a dynamic resource for imagining, negotiating, and shaping possible futures.

This two-journey session, organized within the KreativEU University Alliance, invites interdisciplinary contributions that critically explore the relationship between heritage and imagination. In line with European cultural heritage policies emphasizing participation, social cohesion, sustainability, and innovation, the session seeks to examine how heritage practices, narratives, and governance frameworks support future-oriented thinking and inclusive development.

We welcome papers that address, but are not limited to, the following themes: heritage and future imaginaries; creative, participatory, and community-based heritage practices; heritage governance and cultural policy; heritage, identity, and social cohesion; and innovative approaches to sustainable heritage management.

Contributions

Invited speakers are asked to send a title, an abstract (up to 200 words) and a 150 bio-note including their institutional affiliation.

Master and PhD students are invited to attend, preparing an oral (10 minutes) and written (2.000 words) and sending a proposed abstract of 200 words, in English. Contributions may be based on field experiences, on theoretical considerations or both. The focus on landscapes management and sustainable transformation, engaging an interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary framework, are particularly appreciated.

Participants in one of the Conferences included in the seminar (e.g. the KreativEU Conference, 24-25 March) may also attend the remaining sessions (18-27 March).

The seminar is run in English, in presence and with a limited number of participants. Those interested should contact course directors and then send an email, with the abstract and the endorsement by the course coordinator, to itm.macao@gmail.com.

Imagination and Landscaping represent, experiment, play, perform, transform

The 12th APHELEIA International seminar on Humanities and Landscape management will be organized in Mação (Portugal), 18th-27th march, 2026.

This edition will focus on: Imagination and Landscaping: represent, experiment, play, perform, transform. From the assessment of prehistoric occupations to contemporary communities, the seminar will discuss the importance of imagination in the process leading to the design of cultural landscapes, i.e., features carrying a human induced component (domestication, selection of species, scattering of artefacts, rock art, human constructions, symbols, signs, etc.).

The 10 days intensive program (6 ECTS) will include conferences in the morning and workshops, debates and visits in the afternoons.

This seminar brings together several conferences, in collaboration with the UNESCO-IPTT Chair on Humanities, the International Research and Education Program CHAOS, the CIPSH chair on Asian New Humanities at the University of California Irvine, the KREATIVE-EU European University, the Erasmus Mundus Master Quaternary and Prehistory, the UAL-IPT PhD on Heritage, Technology and Territory and the UNESCO-BRIDGES program.
